The wavelength of light determines the color of visible radiation. Wavelength ( $\lambda$ ) is related to frequency ( $f$ ) and the speed of light ( $c$ ) by the equation  $c = \lambda f$ . Electromagnetic radiation sometimes behaves like waves, but at other times, it behaves as if it were a particle—a little packet of energy, called a photon.

Because light behaves as a wave, it obeys the law of reflection, as shown in Figure 2. According to the law of reflection, the angle at which a light wave strikes a surface is the same as the angle at which it is reflected. Light reflected from any surface—a mirror or a sheet of paper—follows this law.
